Round 2: Mini Case Lumen

Problem Statement

Lumen is a small planet orbiting the Sun. Its people were born here and have never known any other world. Food, shelter and work are all taken care of, and life runs smoothly.

What Lumen doesn't have is a culture. There are no festivals, no traditions and nothing people look forward to. Lumenites understand what culture is; they just haven't created any of their own.

It's starting to show. People finish work and go home alone, community gatherings are close to empty, and most residents describe life as "functional but empty." The Lumen Council has asked you to design the planet's culture from scratch.

About Lumen and Lumenites

1. Orbit, year and day: Lumen orbits the Sun, one Lumen year is 520 Earth days, one day lasts 30 Earth hours, with 15 hours of light and 15 hours of dark.
2. Moon: Lumen has one moon.
3. Population: 50,000 people, in a single concentrated area. The largest gathering space hold 1,000 people at a time.
4. Currency: The economy is not dissimilar to a capitalist economy on Earth, but instead of precious metals, they trade in precious gases.
5. Government: Reporting to a secret Head of Government.
6. Natural Elements: Same as Earth, i.e., Water, Air, Fire, Sky, Earth.
7. Work: All the adult Lumenites work, and they choose to occupy their time with work due to the absence of meaningful/cultural shared experiences.
8. Environment: Astronomical Events and other natural phenomena are common sightings.
9. Biology: Lumenites sleep in at least one 10-hour stretch.
10. No past: Lumen has no history, no religion and no inherited traditions. Earth and its culture don't exist for them, so ideas copied from Earth's festivals won't count.
11. Age: Life expectancy is 300 years, and an adult could be expected to reasonably work till 250; with maturity (equivalent of 18 on Earth) attained at 50 years old.
